Abstract submission deadline	15 March 2021

The 4th International Scientific Conference "TOURMAN 2021" will take place online, on the 21st to 23rd of May 2021 and is themed "Restarting tourism, travel and hospitality: The day after". It is hosted and organised by the International Hellenic University, a traditional public university in Greece with over 55.000 students.

As an answer to the covid-19 pandemic challenges, the Conference will take place virtually (with online live streaming), through Zoom web conferencing. Participation for all delegates presenting accepted abstracts will be totally free of charge (no delegate fees)!

The state-of-the-art conference program includes: a) a high quality scientific research track with refereed presentations, b) cutting-edge keynote speakers and roundtables from the industry, the academia and the public sector, c) publication opportunities in special issues of Scopus-indexed refereed journals, and d) a postgraduate student paper presentation track and a PhD workshop.

“Restarting tourism, travel and hospitality: The day after”

The covid-19 pandemic is having a major impact on tourism, travel and hospitality; however, there is a light in the end of the tunnel and the global tourism industry is preparing for a dynamic come-back, a major restart! In addition, recent developments in various fields such as technology, environmental issues, tourism supply and demand, emergence of new destinations, globalisation of the tourism industry, innovative management approaches, designing and marketing visitor experiences, story-telling and many others, are having a major impact on tourism, travel and hospitality! Achieving and sustaining success in the future, either in the private or the public sector, is a major challenge for all tourism stakeholders. The search for success in the ever-changing tourism industry is always with us, and its impacts are of critical importance for tourism, travel and hospitality management and education.

Any stakeholder in tourism, travel & hospitality, and any industry practitioner, educator or researcher, is facing vital questions like:

- How to prepare for the future?
- How to manage the future?
- How to survive in the future?
- How to sustain development and growth?
- How to research for the future?

If you are looking for answers to these questions, or if you can share with others your answers, then make sure that you will participate in the virtual (with online live streaming) TOURMAN 2021...

Submission Guidelines for Abstracts

All manuscripts must be original and not simultaneously submitted to another journal or conference. Please submit abstracts (350 to 400 words, excluding references) via EasyChair online submission system at <https://easychair.org/conferences/?conf=tourman2021> by the 15th of March 2021.

Submitted abstracts should be relevant with the overall conference theme objectives and at least one of the conference sub-themes, should be written in English, and should be submitted in time. All contributions must be original (i.e., not been published elsewhere), follow academic writing, structure and methodology. Submissions will be blind-refereed by at least two anonymous reviewers who will decide whether the proposed abstracts will be accepted or not. Following the acceptance of the abstract, the author(s) will be provided with specific guidelines for the submission of a full paper.

Authors of accepted abstracts may participate at the conference and present their work, based on their accepted abstract; all abstracts should be extended to short papers (2 pages) which will be included in the official Book of Abstracts.

Authors that wish to additionally submit a full paper will be informed about the submission specifications/guidelines for the full papers; all accepted full papers will be included in the official conference proceedings, as a separate Edited Book.

Guidelines for preparing an abstract for TOURMAN 2021

TOURMAN 2021 provides the following guidance to help authors write an abstract of maximum value to readers. Please read carefully the following guidelines, before submitting your abstract. Abstracts that do not fully conform to the guidelines presented below, will be automatically rejected!

An abstract is a concise summary of a larger work; the length of an abstract submitted to TOURMAN 2021 should be between 350 and 400 words (excluding references) and should be written in English. Its purpose is to help readers quickly discern the purpose and content of the work. Accuracy, brevity, and clarity are the ABCs of writing a good abstract. Writing style: a) Use a who, what, when, where, why, how, and “so what” approach to addressing the main elements in your abstract; b) Use specific words, phrases, concepts, and keywords to highlight your work; c) Use precise, clear, descriptive language, and write from an objective rather than evaluative point of view; d) Write concisely, but in complete sentences; e) Use plain language, do not use jargon, and do not use acronyms except for commonly used terms (then define the acronym the first time used); f) Write in the third person; do not use “I” or “we”; g) Use verbs in the active voice. A well-written abstract to be submitted to TOURMAN 2021 should be structured into the following four key elements:

- Purpose: describes the objectives and research questions (or hypotheses).
- Methods: describes important features of your research design, data, and analysis. This may include the sample size, geographic location, demographics, variables, controls, conditions, tests, descriptions of research design, details of sampling techniques, and data gathering procedures.
- Results & Discussion: describes the key findings of the study, including experimental, correlational, or theoretical results. It should also provide a brief explanation and discussion of the results.
- Implications: show how the results connect to policy and practice, and provide suggestions for follow-up, future studies, or further analysis.
- Keywords: provide minimum 3 and maximum 5 keywords representing the major focus of your abstract.
